18th after the dressage.

"He has always been mega cross-country and he made it feel like a Pony Club track," said Julia.

Time-penalties decisive

It was all change in the last phase of the Walker Logistics CCI* in which not one of the top 20 kept the same overnight placing. Rosalind Canter made the most of leader James Adams' agonising two time-penalties to win with her own Dutch-bred gelding Zenshera, one of just a handful to finish on their dressage score.

Rosalind picked out the Guidam gelding while spending a week with Jan Greve in Holland.

"I rode him every day and ended up bringing him back," said Rosalind. "He had done a bit of showjumping and had been broken to harness — my sister is getting married next year, so if her fell doesn't take to harness, we may have to bring this one out!"

James Adams may have been kicking himself for the time-penalties, but he was thrilled with Kate McClaren, a 10-year-old owned by Laura Ritchie-Bland. James took over the ride in May.

"She has been very consistent all season and this was comfortable for her," he said. "The cross-country rode beautifully, although she had a fair old spook
